

Join the Mayor of Los Angeles and Kickstart Your Cleantech Business in China!

OnGreen Venture Roadshow: Gateway to China: This December, OnGreen is leading a group of top-notch cleantech entrepreneurs to China with Los Angeles Mayor Antonio Villaraigosa and other key leaders of his delegation to directly engage with potential investors and market entry partners in China. As part of the program, the City of Los Angeles will also help Roadshow participants find opportunities and incentives to do business in Los Angeles and get additional press coverage.

You can be part of this high-profile trip. The Venture Roadshow will be a three-day intensive program held in Shanghai, Chongqing and Beijing, the epicenters of Chinese cleantech investment. Entrepreneurs can expect quality one-on-one sessions with targeted investors, potential partners for market expansion, as well as several networking and showcase opportunities. Branch out and connect with some of the leading investors in China.

Deadline: Oct. 14th, 2011

OnGreen Partners with Caltech to Secure DOE Grant to Foster Student Entrepreneurship in Cleantech

OnGreen to develop large cleantech mentor-student network

Caltech, in partnership with OnGreen, UCLA, and USC, announced this week they received a $360,000 grant from the U.S. Department of Energy to accelerate cleantech innovation by fostering student entrepreneurship through a Western Regional business plan competition. This public-private consortium, First Look West (FLoW), builds upon the Office of Energy Efficiency and Renewable's mission to enhance energy efficiency and productivity, and bring reliable and affordable clean technologies to market.
